

Jane A. Silverman

Jane Silverman is an organizational consultant focusing on the nonprofit sector. She is a past president of AJC Central NJ. At AJC, Ms. Silverman is a former chair of Organizational Development, former member of the Executive Committee, and currently serves on the Governance Committee, which she formerly chaired. She co-chaired the Strategic Planning Task Force. She was presented with the organization's National Distinguished Leadership Award in 2003. Jane Silverman was formerly executive director of the Association of Junior Leagues International, and was a nonresident fellow of the School of Public Policy and Social Research at UCLA. She is a trustee of the American Repertory Ballet where she chairs the Governance Committee and a Trustee of the Princeton Public Library Foundation which she formerly chaired. Ms. Silverman is a former trustee of Radcliffe College, her alma mater, and has a Master's in city planning from the University of Pennsylvania.